Open Access at UCLan

To ensure your research meets University and funder Open Access policies (including the UKRI/Research England), all research outputs must be deposited on CLoK as soon as possible after acceptance for publication (within 3 months).

What you need to do:

- Create a record of your work on CLoK (http://clok.uclan.ac.uk/)
  As a minimum you must include these five pieces of information:

  - The authors’ names, at least one must be a UCLan student or staff
  - The title of the work
  - A date - the date of acceptance of a published work; for unpublished or nontexts works, the date of creation or public availability
  - The digital object identifier (DOI), a publisher or journal URL or any page that gives more information about the work if the above are not available
  - Deposit your Author Accepted Manuscript (AAM)

- In line with the EU Web Accessibility Directive- Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) (No. 2) Accessibility Regulations 2018, all content deposited into CLoK and UCLanData should be in an accessible format. When creating a CLoK record we require you to upload the Author Accepted Manuscript (AAM), or the version of your output in the relevant format type if not a pdf, and these should be provided to us in an accessible format. Training on making documents accessible can be found here and more general information can be found here. We need to have a copy of the AAM for purposes of preservation and to ensure your work is REF compliant.

The more information you add, the more discoverable your research will be.

What the Open Access Team will do:

- Review the record for University and funder compliance
- Add copyright licence and full-text embargo in line with your publisher’s requirements
- Approve/ release the CLoK record (you will be sent an email to notify you when this has happened)
Further information and support:

Follow the links for further information, or contact your Open Access Support and Advocacy Officer (openaccess@uclan.ac.uk).

Updated 29/07/20