

University of Central Lancashire
UCLan

FRIENDS AND FLATMATES – HAVE THEIR BACK

BE WARY OF ACCEPTING FREE DRUGS

DON'T BUY WHAT YOU CAN'T AFFORD

IF YOU ARE CONCERNED, SEEK SUPPORT

County Lines is a way of distributing drugs across the country, facilitated by dedicated phone lines, and often involves the criminal and sexual exploitation of children and vulnerable adults. Criminal exploitation involves forcing or coercing others to commit crimes, such as selling, storing, and transporting drugs, or assault.

General decline in physical and mental wellbeing

Increase in new visitors,
particularly at unsociable hours

Students scared of or intimidated
by particular people

#KnowTheSigns

COUNTY LINES

GET SUPPORT

release.org.uk themix.org.uk

crimestoppers-uk.org stgilestrust.org.uk

Students selling drugs to other students

Sudden increase of money,
drugs, or luxury goods
Students owning multiple mobile phones

Funded by pump priming Centre for Criminal Justice Research & Partnerships
Project: County Lines & Criminal Exploitation of UK University Students, Beth Hall

Design by Paul Morris onEvidence