Eight Days A Week, artists from Liverpool and Cologne taking part in a unique cultural exchange through an ongoing programme of exhibitions, residencies, films, performances, discussions and publications.

EIGHT DAYS A WEEK RESIDENCY PROJECT AT THE BLUECOAT 2008

Eight Days A Week is currently taking out a 3 month lease on the 'Artist in Residence Space at the Bluecoat', Liverpool to function as an activity and resource space for artists. This has provided a base for a range of creative activities where artists from Liverpool and Cologne can continue the unique cultural exchange programme to develop links with educational and cultural institutions in the city.

Artists' selected to work in the Project Space and the City have included a Basement Project with Liverpool artists collaborating with German and Polish artists, Ulrike Oeter who created the Strassenmuseum [street museum] to engage with particular Jewish histories of Liverpool and the Kölner Graphikwerkstatt Cologne who worked in the Bluecoat's Print Studio.

Sat 13 December 12.30-2pm Liverpool/Cologne Artists' Discussion Free

Since October, Eight Days A Week, the ongoing artists exchange programme between Liverpool and its German twin city of Cologne has set up a project space at the Bluecoat. Some of the artists involved and Jürgen Kisters, Cologne critic and writer, discuss the programme and the future of this 10-year programme.

Sat 13 December 2-5pm Turner's Travels Pete Clarke and Georg Gartz Artists' Studio Day Free

The final Eight Days A Week event in the project space involves Pete Clarke and Georg Gartz, who have painted collaboratively since 1998, and are now exploring the journeys Turner made along the rivers Rhine and Mosel. Come and see this work in progress.

'Rheinwarts', Clarke&Gartz 2008.

The exhibition acknowledges support from Stadt Köln, Kulturamt Köln, The University of Central Lancashire, Preston, and Liverpool JMU Arts School and funded by the Liverpool Culture Company as part of the Creative Communities Initiative, Liverpool European Capital of Culture.
