An American Tale

Andrew Kelly, 20, is currently enjoying his semester placement at Central Connecticut State University as part of the University of Central Lancashire's exchange programme.

The former student of Liverpool Blue Coat School in Wavertree first went to America after completing his foundation year in art and design. Travelling on his own for two months, he began in Boston and made his way through Texas up to the west coast of Seattle before starting his degree in English and American Literature.

"I would definitely say that that experience helped me a great deal in deciding to come to Preston where they had an exchange programme."

Andrew has recently spent the weekend in Florida with his parents and is currently looking forward to seeing his girlfriend who is going across for two weeks.
